

PULSE OF YOUR HEART

Intro

Verse 1

People stare into the sky, yet can't see,
The dots that all connect; they're pointing,
Like a map that has an end, and leads me straight to You.

Verse 2

The world listens for truth, yet can't hear.
A noisy atmosphere has drowned You out.
I turn down my noise.
I'm listening.

Pre-Chorus

So let the pulse of Your heart pound in me.
Let me feel the spin of earth, and catch the strangeness of reality.
'Cause You have put me here,
You have planned for me
A life worth living. (Oh)

Chorus

'Cause You are the math behind the galaxy, Connecting my dots, removing my treachery.
You're converting my pain to some greater plan
And I, I'm coming alive, I'm coming alive.
I'm feeling Your grace again.

Rap

Trace the pulse of Your heart like a sonar, Lifting up my hands trying to touch the stars, Maybe I'm going too hard, going too far, that's not who You are,
Maybe I don't know enough, Or maybe they just know too much,
Maybe got the faith of a child and I'm pushing through the crowd
At Your fringes trying to get a touch, Because You're still my healer, no matter how the world sees You,
I still claim You as redeemer,
My Christ my Risen One,
Looking to the Heaven, blinded by the Son, Falling to my knees as I come undone,
If You got that living water come and give me some,
'Cause I'm still on this mission,
trying to fight this human condition,
You can call that #sinning, but You say I'm #winning, Any second I choose to give in and let Your Son start living.
And feel your heartbeats rhythm.
